A boy was putting on a show called 'Winter Magical Tricks'. Today he only wanted to put on one show. The magician gave a volunteer from the audience 5 twenty-cent coins. Each of the coins was identical except for the dates. The magician then walked off the stage while the volunteer put the coins in the cup. Then the volunteer took out a coin, noted the date, and then held it tightly in his hands. When the magician came back on to the stage, he started to ask the volunteer questions. This is how the following questions were answered: 'What is your name?'
